Terranova's Website Takes Home the Silver ADDY Award

MIAMI BEACH, FL – March 22, 2016 – Terranova Corporation's website was honored with a Silver ADDY Award at the 2015-2016 American Advertising Awards presented by the Fort Lauderdale chapter of The American Advertising Federation. The ADDY awards recognize the highest level of creative excellence in an advertising medium.

helium creative, a full service advertising firm based in Ft. Lauderdale, was awarded for the design and development the agency submitted for Terranova's redesigned corporate website. helium provided a look that reflected who Terranova is today, offering a sleek, engaging, and design-forward aesthetic allowing the viewer to recognize what makes Terranova the superior commercial real estate choice.

The American Advertising Awards are held annually and are the industry's largest advertising competition, receiving more than 50,000 entries each year. The competition is first held locally within a chapter, which covers specific media markets. The chapter winners then advance to compete at the district and then national level.

"There is no greater honor than being recognized within the industry for our work!" says helium's President and Creative Director Christopher Heller. "Receiving a Silver ADDY Award for the Terranova website is not only a testament to the hard work and creativity of the helium creative team, but also to our partnership with such a great client! Thanks Terranova for the opportunity to let our passion shine and know it will support your continued success!"
